

2023 – 2024 Final Exam Schedule

Updated 8-21-23

Regularly scheduled day classes are required to follow the schedule for final exams listed below. Not following this schedule could negatively impact your students and other instructors. Consequently, if you have a conflict, please do NOT just change your final exam day and time. Instead, discuss possible alternatives with your supervising Dean or the Vice President of Academic Affairs to get approval at least four weeks prior to the scheduled examination.

Please note: Because final exams are set in two-hour blocks, the final exam for your class(es) may fall on different days. For example, you might have a final exam scheduled on a Friday at 10:00, even though your class normally meets on Tuesdays at 11:00. Also, please make sure that you include the date and time of your final exam on your syllabus so that students have ample time to adjust their personal schedules if necessary.

EXCEPTIONS to the schedule below:

- Classes not meeting the full term will have the final exam the last regularly scheduled day of class.
- Evening classes beginning at 3:00 p.m. or after will have the final exam the last regularly scheduled evening of class.
- Classes that are 1 or 2 credits: will have their final exam on the last regularly scheduled day of class.
- Saturday and Sunday classes will have their final exam on the last regularly scheduled day of class.

NOTE: Students may reschedule examinations if they have more than two examinations on the same day.

NOTE: Online class instructors may schedule the final exam due date any time during final exam week at their discretion.
